Andante religioso

The musical score is written for piano and consists of four systems of staves. Each system contains a grand staff with a treble and bass clef. The music is in common time (C) and the key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat). The score includes various dynamic markings such as mp, dolce, pp, dim., and rall.. There are also performance instructions like v.k. and k.k. above the first staff. The notation includes quarter notes, eighth notes, and rests, with some notes beamed together. The piece concludes with a double bar line and a fermata.

Handwritten musical notation on ten staves. Each staff consists of five horizontal lines. The notation is extremely faint and illegible, appearing as light grey or black marks across the staves. The paper is aged and yellowed, with some creases and a small blueish stain at the bottom left.

A small, rectangular, light purple or lavender-colored label or sticker is affixed to the bottom right corner of the page. The text on the label is illegible due to fading and the angle of the photograph.

This image shows a page from an antique book, likely a manuscript or a notebook. The paper is significantly aged, appearing yellowed and textured. It features ten sets of five horizontal lines each, arranged vertically down the page, which are characteristic of musical staves. The lines are thin and dark. The page is bound within a dark red, possibly leather or cloth, cover. At the top edge, there is a strip of lighter, brownish material, possibly a piece of tape or a different type of paper. In the bottom left corner, there is a small, rectangular piece of light purple or lavender paper, which appears to be a label or a piece of tape that has been attached to the main page.
